MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, FBIS
FROM: Chief, London Bureau
THROUGH: Chief, Operations Group
SUBJECT: Monthly Report - London Bureau - March 1985

I. GENERAL

1. Events of the Month: March produced a variety of outstanding developments, all of which seemed to have an aura of disruptiveness and/or uncertainty: the death of yet another CPSU general secretary and the selection of his successor, the announcement that the Monitoring Service will be getting a new general manager, the PMU move to new "temporary" quarters, the dramatic rise of the pound, and the last pint in the old BBC Club.
2. Chernenko Death: For the third winter in a row a death-and-succession of Soviet leaders was handled with here-we-go-again professionalism by the BBC and the Bureau, winning the compliments of FBIS Headquarters. A key clue was spotted well in advance of the official death announcement by David Owen of the BBC's Russian team when he asked a colleague about the program preview at the end of Moscow TV's First Program on Sunday night. Not only was there no preview, the program had closed down early after presenting only one of two scheduled features - an appropriate "Merry Widow". Dave stayed on through the midnight shift watching for developments and was himself monitored by FBISers when he was interviewed early Monday morning on BBC Radio 4. Reports in THE TIMES and FINANCIAL TIMES the next day described the Monitoring Service's role in alerting Bush House, citing Owen and Reception Department's Senior Assistant for Coverage Linda Eberst on Moscow media behavior.
3. BBC News: The Home Secretary's announcement of the BBC's new license fee was described by the BBC Finance Department as falling in the middle of the "D scale" - neither delirious nor disastrous, but disappointing. The fee will be £58 annually for two years, instead of £65 for three as requested, and a government committee headed by an economics professor, Alan Peacock, will undertake an inquiry into alternate forms of financing the corporation. The broad terms of reference of the inquiry, which is to report in summer 1986, include assessment of the effects of the introduction of advertising or sponsorship on the BBC's domestic services, including the consequences for the BBC, independent TV and radio, prospective cable and DBS services, the press, the advertising industry, and the Exchequer. Before the announcement, BBC Director General Milne had warned that an inadequate license fee would make it virtually impossible for the BBC to go ahead with satellite broadcast plans. The complex subject of BBC financing and its impact on related industries will be the topic of media discussion for months to come.

At the Monitoring Service, General Manager David Witherow has been promoted to Controller of Resources and Administration of the External Services and will be moving back to Bush House in the next few months. The general manager position is to be advertised and hopefully a successor will be named before Witherow departs.

II. OPERATIONS

A. Editorial/Monitorial

The 11 March file, including the announcement of CPSU General Secretary Chernenko's death and the appointment of Gorbachev to succeed him, was a healthy 274 messages totaling 80,200 words, including 35 "flash" messages. At one point all teleops were punching "flash" material and there was at least one more "flash in the pan" awaiting its turn. Editorial overtime was racked up handling the file, which continued heavy throughout the month. The Gulf war, the Hungarian party congress, and leader speeches from Libya to Afghanistan helped contribute to an editorial backlog [redacted]

[redacted] The Bureau hit the highest daily average for March of 94,000 words; the daily file exceeded 100,000 words 17 times during the month, the highest being 134,330.

B. Technical

The BBC has received all equipment needed for installation of the VCVC wideband circuit between Vienna and Caversham. BBC engineer Vernon Smith is now working full time debugging the control system and anticipates installation in April, when the circuit should be operational.

III. ADMINISTRATION

A. Building and Grounds

PMU has settled into new and spacious quarters with a minimum of disruption, although there are still some finishing touches to be completed, including installation of airconditioning units and an improved corridor linking the portakabins to the main building. The other main upheavals have also been accomplished, with BBC Club and BBC engineering and other service components now in portakabin accommodations in front of the building.

B. Training

Enthusiastic students from all Bureau components - admin, editorial, tabulation, commo, PMU, and engineering - participated in the three-week training program given by the CRW team of [redacted]. Those who were new to the computer world are now committed activists: [redacted] turned out her first computer-assisted FSR for March, and the tabulators are lined up behind the single PC in their room waiting their turn to input the Radio Peace and Progress commentary lists, while [redacted] first computerized coverage change report was filed this month.

IV. VISITS

[redacted] visited BBC External Services Newsroom at Bush House and Reuters headquarters in London with Chief Editor [redacted] on the 18th; after a day's TDY at the Bureau, [redacted] along with [redacted] spent the rest of the week in Paris holding discussions with AFP. Prod's [redacted] on his way to open the new Antwerp office, spent the 28th and 29th with Bureau admin and PMU on TDY. Ann Ledgard of the BBC's English team and John Crossan, a new member of the Russian team, were briefed by [redacted] on FBIS operations.

Bureau Chief [redacted] paid TDY visits to [redacted] Austrian Bureau 25-29 March; Senior Editor [redacted] was on TDY at BBC's East African Unit 13-27; Senior Mireroom Supervisor [redacted] spent 2-31 March on TDY at Mbabane; Cologne Unit Chief [redacted] visited Vienna on a 14-15 March TDY, and Islamabad Unit was visited by Austrian Bureau Regional Engineer [redacted] on one of his periodic engineering visits.

V. GOOD DAYS, BAD DAYS

First, there is editor [redacted] with everything going right for him: after an enjoyable TDY working with his BBC colleagues in Nairobi, he returned to win 12 quid in the Bureau's Grand National pool. Then there is Islamabad Unit Chief [redacted] who emerged successful (and unharmed) from a recent wild boar hunt. But then there is Cologne Unit Chief [redacted] who once misdialed the U.S. Embassy in Berlin and found himself talking to the SED Central Committee. His latest misadventure concerned a TDY trip to Vienna lugging along a VCR requested by Austrian Bureau. After one false start (the Bonn train to Frankfurt was late and the Frankfurt airport was in chaos because of a Lufthansa hijacking), he tried again some weeks later and emerged triumphant at Vienna airport. There he was detained by Austrian customs, charged with smuggling the VCR and questioned, to the vast amusement of waiting Austrian Bureau Deputy Chief [redacted] was finally released when it was determined that the embassy had obtained the necessary import approvals which had been forwarded to the wrong office. The affair was settled the following day during an expeditious - by Austrian customs standards - four-hour session at the main customs office.
